BEVERLY, MA, October 14, 2011 - The Wylie Inn and Conference Center at Endicott College in Beverly, Massachusetts has announced the opening of their new Fountain Café and Bar at the Wylie Inn. "This new addition to the Wylie Inn completes the building of all our facilities at Endicott College and allows us to compete on a world class basis serving our Wylie Inn guests as well as Conference and Social Event attendees," stated Deborah DeGalla, General Manager. "Our guests are delighted with the new Fountain Café and Bar – they are much-welcomed, convenient and inviting additions."

Located on the campus of Endicott College, the Wylie Inn and Conference Center and historic Tupper Manor, has just completed its second phase of redevelopment. The Wylie Inn and Conference Center and adjoining Tupper Manor collectively create the only ocean-front facility in the Greater Boston area that offers complete conference services, social venues and sleeping accommodations year-round along the region's notably picturesque North Shore, just 20 miles north of Boston.

About the Wylie Inn and Conference Center:
Located on the South Campus of Endicott College, 20 miles north of Boston, on the shoreline road leading into Beverly, The Wylie Inn and Conference Center at Endicott College was the exceptional vision of the College's president, Richard W. Wylie. Through his ambitions, the inn, conference center, Tupper Manor and the land itself all went through five distinct phases of development, reconstruction, restoration and transformation. The conference center officially opened on June 1, 2007 with 26 state-of-the-art meeting rooms including a 115-seat auditorium and multi-tiered 28-seat seminar room, and banquet facility for 200.
