

You are receiving this training due to a initiative underway at Endicott College through the collaborative efforts of the Office of Title IX and The Department of Human Resources Department. This course titled, "Title IX and You: Protecting Your Campus" examines the most recent changes to Title IX law and your obligations as a mandatory reporter under this law including the types of violations that are reportable. Title IX mandatory reporters are required to report any Title IX violations they become aware of as soon as possible to the following individual:

Christy Galatis

Director of Title IX

College Hall, room 212
